

BRECKINRIDGE LONG
IN SOUTHEAST MO.

By Harry T. Brundidge
Staff correspondent of The St. Louis Star.

Sikeston, Mo., July 25.—With a wave of "Rid Us of Reed" sentiment sweeping over Southeast Missouri and with the slogan "if you are long to rDemocracy you are long on Long" heard in every town, hamlet and cross roads, Breckinridge Long, candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, today invaded Scott County. Early in the day Long found that the anti-Reed feeling had preceded him to Scott County, heretofore regarded by the St. Louisans as the most formidable Reed stronghold with the exceptions of Kansas City and the Ninth Congressional District—Champ Clark's old stamping ground.

Democratic leaders, who have been in doubt as to Long's majority in Southeast Missouri, are now predicting that he will carry Pemiscot, New Madrid, Mississippi, Scott, Dunklin, Cape Girardeau and Stoddard by from 6,000 to 8,000. A few days ago they were figuring that Long would be lucky to lead by 3,000. The outcome in Pemiscot and Scott was especially doubtful. But the Long sentiment, sweeping throughout this section of the state in an ever increasing volume has removed all doubts and leaders assert Reed is losing hundreds of supporters daily.

Long's entry into Scott County follows yesterday's triumphant tour of Pemiscot county. Long's caravan, consisting of nine automobiles, each packed to capacity, covered nearly 100 miles despite dust and scorching heat. Cottonwood Point, Tyler, Cooter, Holland, Steele, Braggadocio, Hayti were visited during the day and the campaign in Pemiscot ended shortly before last midnight when his open air meeting in the court house yard at Caruthersville—a gathering which attracted more than 2000 persons—was adjourned. Addresses were made at Steele, Braggadocio, Hayti and Caruthersville.

Long spent most of the day "just meeting folks", and persons who are of the opinion that Breck Long isn't a mixer should have been with your correspondent. Long certainly knows how to lean over a barbed wire fence and converse with a farmer who is busy making a cotton crop. And in his dust-covered mohair suit, with trousers that bag at the knees and a coat wrinkled from catching up on sleep in day coaches and automobiles, an aged Panama which flops in the breeze, if any, he presents a figure that folks naturally take to.

And his speeches—say, when Long gets started on the Republican administration and a certain United States Senator identified by Long as an alleged Democrat who traveled clear to Wisconsin to stump for a Republican, the wrinkled coat finds a resting place on the floor, or the ground, his necktie just naturally slips from place, his shirt collar becomes unfastened and somehow his sleeves get rolled up. His pre-operations on Woodrow Wilson bring tears and cheers in turn and his quotation from a statement by Reed to never having "attacked the Democratic party from the front nor

VOTE FOR GIBONEY HOUCK
FOR CONGRESSMAN

If you are interested in Levee Improvements and relief from Levee Taxes, Mr. Houck is the man to help you. When elected to Congress, he also expects to at once introduce a bill to require the Government to assume the payment of the principal and interest on bonds now a lien on your land and issued for the construction of levees and drainage along the Mississippi River. He estimates the interest on such bonds outstanding in the river counties of Southeast Missouri now amounts to nearly a million dollars a year for which you are taxed and which tax he will seek to have the Government assume.

Long regarded his day in Pemiscot county as one of the big days in his campaign. He was especially pleased, as were his supporters, with last night's gathering in Caruthersville. Persons who attended Reeds' meeting here a week ago last night asserted

Long drew from 700 to 1000 more persons than Reed. They also stated that there were few Republicans in last night's meeting, while more than a third of Reed's audience was made up of Republicans. Long supporters made much of the fact that the Long meeting was a hip, hip, hip hooray affair—a thing missing from the Reed rally.

Long was introduced last night by Col. H. N. Phillips, police judge of Caruthersville, who boasted that since he cast his first ballot for Horatio Seymour and Frank P. Blair 1868, he had voted the Democratic ticket year in and year out without the aid of pen or pencil. Comparing Reed to Judas Iscariot, Col. Phillips said that Judas was the better man for he had the decency to go out and hang himself after his betrayal.

Long spoke for an hour and thirty minutes, during which time he traced the economic depression to the Harding policies of isolation, ridiculed the administration, quoted from some of Reed's speeches about "not being an occasional Democrat" and called on the Democrats of Missouri to preserve the integrity of the Democratic party.

He scored heavily when he traced the inability of cotton growers to dispose of their crops at a profit to the Harding administration, for thousands of acres of cotton is beginning to boll in Pemiscot county fields.

"Among the five staple products in the Mississippi Valley is cotton," Long said. "Our foreign policies used to be so formulated that the products of America were sold abroad. You used to sell large quantities of cotton in Europe. Our foreign policies were so formulated that it was possible to sell in those countries enough of the surplus produced in America to make it profitable to raise crops at home. Since the change of foreign policies and the establishment of that euphonious but unprofitable policy of isolation we have lost the markets where we used to sell the good we raised."

"In the first twelve months after the change of government policy, we lost $718,000,000 in cotton business and you wondered why the price of cotton dropped. Under the last administration we tried to arrange the German reparations indemnity so that a sum would not be demanded of Germany greater than that nation could pay. That was in order that she might continue as a national, economic and industrial unit.

"Mr. Harding was a member of the Senate then and was one of the band who advocated isolation; he assisted in preventing our carrying out this policy, the consequence of which is

"Sikeston will give you a whooping big majority", said Bruton.

The party left the hotel and visited nearly every business institution in Sikeston. Long got a big reception everywhere.

"We're wasting time in Scott county," Judge Stacy kept insisting. "Everybody's for you. We want to get over into New Madrid County—that's where the Reed folks are entrenched. There is a wet and dry row in Morehouse, and the wets are all for Reed. And incidentally don't overlook the fact that more Democrats voted the Republican ticket in 1920 in that district than in any other section of the state and Democrats who were against Wilson, the war and the Wilson policies are certainly going to vote for Reed."

Consequently, it was with misgivings that Long departed for Morehouse. But what a reception! And what a surprise! Long-for-Senator and Long-on-Long posters were seen in almost every window. A big crowd gathered. J. H. Boone, wealthy resident of Morehouse was the first to greet Long.

"Breck," he fairly shouted, "there are only three or four Reed men left in Morehouse. All the rest have been converted".

"Morehouse is going to make the vote for you unanimous," said J. T. Yager, editor of The Messenger.

"I'm certainly long for you" laughed Miss Hattie Harp, an active Democratic worker.

"Make Reed hard to catch", shouted J. W. Sarff, who passed in an automobile.

Long walked into the North Pole confectionery shop where he greeted the proprietor and his employees; from there he went to Hinson's cafe and then in turn, to Chapman's Furniture Store, Bank of Morehouse, People's Market, Bank's Quality Store and half a dozen others.

A. J. Harrison, wealthy resident of Morehouse, finally collared Long.

"You've got to make a speech", he said, "we can get a crowd of 200 here in ten minutes".

Long agreed. A minute later small boys were running about the town, crying the news. Ten minutes later a crowd of 197 men and women had gathered and Long, climbing into a handy flicker, made a thirty minute address which was interrupted a dozen times by rousing cheers.

Following his address, Long and his party moved on to the town of Canalou, also in New Madrid County. As the automobile parked in front of the village store, a tall citizen rushed up.

"Darned if it ain't Breck Long", he shouted. "Recognize you from your pictures. I'm the town marshal and I sure am for you. Want you to come down to the depot and meet your other Canalou supporter".

They told Long that W. M. Hartman, a former Republican, had organized a Reed-for-Senator Club and got all the Democrats but two in it.

Long got busy. In an hour he had twenty men pledged to lend every effort in his behalf.

In Matthews, six miles from Canalou, could find only five Reed supporters and reports from the front had it that there were only two when Long bid goodbye to Matthews.

Then back toward Sikeston. Enroute Long paused to chat with a harvest crew and with farmers working in the fields of cotton and sunflowers. Half a hundred persons were waiting for Long when he returned here. There were a dozen conferences, a hurried dinner and then a brass band was heard in front of the Hotel Marshall. It was playing the old battle cry:

"Every time I come to town

The boys start kickin' my dawg around".

Crowds gathered. Men, women and children came to shake hands. There were babies to be kissed and boys and girls to be patted on the head. Then the reception committee arrived and with the band leading the way, Long was escorted to Malone park.

There were many women in the audience of 2100 and they lead in the applause. Long was introduced by H. C. Blanton, a member of the Scott County Democratic committee, who declared the Democratic party "has come to a parting of the ways" and asserted the defeat of Reed was the only hope of unity. Long spoke for an hour and thirty minutes, despite conditions of his voice, due to the fact that he has made 133 long speeches in a comparatively short time.

Long dwelt at length on the German reparations and the foreign trade policies of the Harding administration. He again rebutted charges made by Reed against Hoover, relative to the fixing of grain prices during the war.

"The opposition to the policies of the Wilson administration, part of which was the German reparations program, has had direct effects upon the growers of grain and the planters of cotton", he said. "The reparation program for fixing a sum which Germany could pay and which would leave Germany in a position as regards her financial and credit systems to do business with other countries, was defeated by Republican opposition and by the obstructionist tactics in the Senate."

"This resulted in a demand on Germany for indemnities in a sum greater than she could pay and the effect is today that in Germany it costs $60 a bushel to buy American wheat with German money. Naturally they don't buy and consequently we don't sell. The ten billion dollar loss in trade which we have sustained and are suffering from is largely due to these facts".

Long devoted ten minutes to a preoration on Woodrow Wilson and every sentence was applauded. He reiterated that he is not "an occasional Democrat", which also elicited rousing cheers. At one point in his speech, while referring to Harding's "isolation" policy, a bench near the speaker's platform collapsed.

"That bench," said Long solemnly, "fell down just at the point of isolation, even as did the Harding administration".

The cheering was heard half a mile away.

What a differnece between the speaking of Reed and Long in Sikeston! Reed's full of abuse of those opposing him while Long's speech was thoroughly Democratic and pleasing to all brands of Democracy. The Long audience was composed of the best people in the community with visitors of the same sort from Caruthersville, Cape Girardeau and all intermediate points. The women were present in large numbers and long after the crowd dispersed visited with the candidate and pledged their support.

The first evening the Reed Battery entered the field was full of disappointment as the school house at Rootwood was dark and locked and Dr. Malcolm had his trip for nothing. The Standard learned that insufficient notice had been given the school board and the man with the key failed to appear.

At Morley where the opera house had been engaged for Attorney Patterson and Dr. Presnell, but three people came to the speaking and the meeting was called off. Notwithstanding The Standard is a Democratic paper this brand of Democrats failed to advise us of speaking dates for publication, but gave their printing to the Republican office, hence we are unable to state where their meetings are to be held for the balance of the week. From all over the state the charge is made that the Republicans are working with the Reed forces and it seems to be true.

Wednesday evening Col. Ruby Garrett of Kansas City addressed an audience of several hundred in the interest of Senator Reed. He was introduced by Dr. P. M. Malcolm. On the platform were Judge Graham, Dr. Malcolm, Dud Tickle, Joe Myers and one or two other Reed admirers. Not being present we are unable to report any subjects handled.

BRECKINRIDGE LONG
FAR IN THE LEAD

Jefferson City, July 25.—That Breckinridge Long will win the Democratic nomination for United States Senator by an overwhelming majority on August 1 is the consensus of opinion of authentic reports received here from Democratic leaders and newspapermen in every county in the state.

There are some rural sections in the State which will pile up leads from 5 to 1 to 10 to 1 in favor of the former Assistant Secretary of State. Some of the Democratic leaders place Long's majority at between 75,000 to 100,000.

During the last ten days of the campaign Long has been greeted by many thousands of voters, his crowds far outnumbering those of his opponent. It is noticeable that Long has steadily gained ground in every county and also in Kansas City and St. Louis.

When Long appeared in Kansas City for a two-day tour he was greeted by a noon-day crowd of more than 1500 Democratic men and women. He was introduced by Col. George English, a veteran of the World War. The tremendous crowd which turned out to hear Long created surprise and showed that he would get a large vote irrespective of the organization.

Conservative Democrats credit rural Jackson County to Long's column, the candidate having finished the tour of the county with a speech at Independence.

The Democratic nominee also was greeted by enthusiastic crowds on his tour of Jasper and Greene counties.

When he rose to speak before a large crowd at Springfield he was cheered for five minutes.

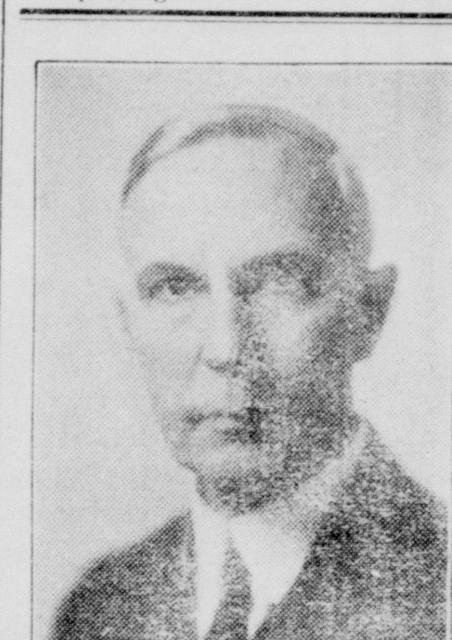

The supporters of the former Assistant Secretary of State under Woodrow Wilson have been quite active for him in St. Louis and it is certain now that the city will swing to the Long column.

The real Democrats of the State, intend to work hard every day until the day of the primary in order that Long's apparent majority will be increased.

The ladies of the Christian Church will have a bake sale in the basement of their church Saturday afternoon from 2:00 to 6:00 o'clock. Ice cream and cake served.

The automobile edition of the Scott County Democrat has reached The Standard. It contains 28 pages of matter pertaining to Scott County and is a credit to Editor Pinney and the city in which it is published.

The Standard has received a letter from Mrs. Archie D. Barnett, stating that she is comfortably located in the Agnes Memorial Sanitorium, at Denver, Colorado, and the doctors have given her every encouragement in regard to her health. She also informs us that Mrs. John Walter Lay is in the same sanatorium. Mrs. Lay has been very ill, but is improving.

SENATOR W. M. BOWKER
Of Nevada, Vernon Co., Candidate for the Democratic nomination for Supreme Judge for one of the two positions to be filled in Division No. Two.

Senator Bowker is known all over the State as being one of the ablest lawyers in the State, a good Democrat and well fitted in every way for this important position.

He made a fine record in the State Senate, and, in the last legislature, led the fight against the vicious legislation and high tax program of the present Republican Administration.

His record entitles him to the favorable consideration of the Democratic voters at the Primary August 1st.

Pro-German or Pro-American?

Letter From Capt. Harry Dudley

John C. Meyers, leader of the local pro-German elements who went to the limit in opposing war measures, says 9000 German-Americans are pledged to support Senator Reed. The presumption from his statement is that these 9000 German Americans are Republicans who have promised to jump their party primary and vote in the Democratic primary for the purpose of renominating Senator Reed.

We deprecate the injection of racial and foreign national issues in American politics as Mr. Meyers has done. It does not help either Germany, which is sadly in need of American sympathy and help, nor is it good for America, but Mr. Meyers has defined one issue clearly. His statement is a challenge to Democrats in particular and Americans in general. Shall the Democratic nomination be decided by Republicans and pro-Germans or by Democrats and pro-Americans? Which shall control the Senate—Germany or America?

It is high time to get rid of the professional Germans who are menaces to both Germany and America.—Post-Dispatch.

Mrs. J. W. Winchester and daughter, Anita, have returned from Hot Springs, Ark., where Mrs. Winchester went for the benefit of her health.

Mrs. Gertrude Lee will leave for St. Louis Saturday to attend the hairdressers' convention to be held in that city Monday and Tuesday of next week. She will return Wednesday.

REED'S RECORD IN SENATE
ON ESCH-CUMMINS LAW

A statement on the attitude of Senator Reed toward the Esch-Cummins railroad law has been received by W. A. Wheeling, 3818 Blaine avenue, legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, from W. N. Doak, national legislative representative of the organization, at Washington.

According to the statement, Reed did not vote on the Esch-Cummins bill, but was paired, and gave no indication of his attitude toward the measure. It is further said he did not vote on the conference report, March 13, 1918, although labor favored the bill. He was paired and did not vote December 18, 1919, on the amendment to strike out drastic provisions to which labor men objected. He also was paired and did not vote December 19, 1919, on an amendment to strike out the anti-strike penalty clause.—St. Louis Star.

The Southeast Missouri Melon Growers' Association have established their offices in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. The office force is considerably smaller than it was last season, due to the fact that the Association has eliminated the sales department and has an agreement with the American Fruit Growers, Inc. of St. Louis as marketing agents. In the office at present are: E. B. Gustafson, field representative of the American Fruit Growers, who was formerly Chief Fruit Inspector of the State of Idaho, also was with the U. S. Bureau of Markets and has had vast experience both in the field and on the market with large Produce Marketing agencies. W. M. Gaty, Secretary-Manager, who was with the Southeast Missouri Melon Growers' Association last season, and George M. Faris, as bookkeeper and stenographer.

Fisk and Ash Hill locals have been shipping melons since the 20th of this month and the peak of the movement is expected within the next ten days. At a meeting of the Board of Directors, July 24th, the Board was more than satisfied with the prices which were received for the Fisk and Ash Hill ears.

Mr. Gaty, Secretary-Manager, reports that there will be a shortage of melons from Southeast Missouri loading points due to wilt and other diseases and that large size melons of quality are scarce.

The officers of the organization would be glad for anyone interested in watermelons, to come around and get acquainted.

BRECKINRIDGE LONG
IN SOUTHEAST MO.

By Harry T. Brundidge
Staff correspondent of The St. Louis Star.

Sikeston, Mo., July 25.—With a wave of "Rid Us of Reed" sentiment sweeping over Southeast Missouri and with the slogan "if you are long to rDemocracy you are long on Long" heard in every town, hamlet and cross roads, Breckinridge Long, candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, today invaded Scott County. Early in the day Long found that the anti-Reed feeling had preceded him to Scott County, heretofore regarded by the St. Louisans as the most formidable Reed stronghold with the exceptions of Kansas City and the Ninth Congressional District—Champ Clark's old stamping ground.

Democratic leaders, who have been in doubt as to Long's majority in Southeast Missouri, are now predicting that he will carry Pemiscot, New Madrid, Mississippi, Scott, Dunklin, Cape Girardeau and Stoddard by from 6,000 to 8,000. A few days ago they were figuring that Long would be lucky to lead by 3,000. The outcome in Pemiscot and Scott was especially doubtful. But the Long sentiment, sweeping throughout this section of the state in an ever increasing volume has removed all doubts and leaders assert Reed is losing hundreds of supporters daily.

Long's entry into Scott County follows yesterday's triumphant tour of Pemiscot county. Long's caravan, consisting of nine automobiles, each packed to capacity, covered nearly 100 miles despite dust and scorching heat. Cottonwood Point, Tyler, Cooter, Holland, Steele, Braggadocio and Hayti were visited during the day and the campaign in Pemiscot ended shortly before last midnight when his open air meeting in the court house yard at Caruthersville—a gathering which attracted more than 2000 persons—was adjourned. Addresses were made at Steele, Braggadocio, Hayti and Caruthersville.

Long spent most of the day "just meeting folks", and persons who are of the opinion that Breck Long isn't a mixer should have been with your correspondent. Long certainly knows how to lean over a barbed wire fence and converse with a farmer who is busy making a cotton crop. And in his dust-covered mohair suit, with trousers that bag at the knees and a coat wrinkled from catching up on sleep in day coaches and automobiles, an aged Panama which flops in the breeze, if any, he presents a figure that folks naturally take to.

And his speeches—say, when Long gets started on the Republican administration and a certain United States Senator identified by Long as an alleged Democrat who traveled clear to Wisconsin to stump for a Republican, the wrinkled coat finds a resting place on the floor, or the ground, his necktie just naturally slips from place, his shirt collar becomes unfastened and somehow his sleeves get rolled up. His pre-operations on Woodrow Wilson bring tears and cheers in turn and his quotation from a statement by Reed to never having "attacked the Democratic party from the front nor

NOMINATION OF SCOTT FOR SUPREME JUDGE
SEEMS ASSURED FACT

"Haywood Scott, of Joplin, former Circuit Judge, seems certain to be one of the two nominees on the Democratic ticket for Judge of the Supreme Court, Division Two, elected at the primary August 1st, according to reports received from Democratic party leaders and workers from over the State."—Haywood Scott for Supreme Judge Democratic Committee.

VOTE FOR GIBONEY HOUCK FOR CONGRESSMAN

If you are interested in Levee Improvements and relief from Levee Taxes, Mr. Houck is the man to help you. When elected to Congress, he also expects to at once introduce a bill to require the Government to assume the payment of the principal and interest on bonds now a lien on your land and issued for the construction of levees and drainage along the Mississippi River. He estimates the interest on such bonds outstanding in the river counties of Southeast Missouri now amounts to nearly a million dollars a year for which you are taxed and which tax he will seek to have the Government assume.

Long regarded his day in Pemiscot county as one of the big days in his campaign. He was especially pleased, as were his supporters, with last night's gathering in Caruthersville. Persons who attended Reeds' meeting here a week ago last night asserted Long drew from 700 to 1000 more persons than Reed. They also stated that there were few Republicans in last night's meeting, while more than a third of Reed's audience was made up of Republicans. Long supporters made much of the fact that the Long meeting was a hip, hip, hip hooray affair—a thing missing from the Reed rally.

Long was introduced last night by Col. H. N. Phillips, police judge of Caruthersville, who boasted that since he cast his first ballot for Horatio Seymour and Frank P. Blair 1868, he had voted the Democratic ticket year in and year out without the aid of pen or pencil. Comparing Reed to Judas Iscariot, Col. Phillips said that Judas was the better man for he had the decency to go out and hang himself after his betrayal.

Long spoke for an hour and thirty minutes, during which time he traced the economic depression to the Harding policies of isolation, ridiculed the administration, quoted from some of Reed's speeches about "not being an occasional Democrat" and called on the Democrats of Missouri to preserve the integrity of the Democratic party.

He scored heavily when he traced the inability of cotton growers to dispose of their crops at a profit to the Harding administration, for thousands of acres of cotton is beginning to boll in Pemiscot county fields.

"Among the five staple products in the Mississippi Valley is cotton", Long said. "Our foreign policies used to be so formulated that the products of America were sold abroad. You used to sell large quantities of cotton in Europe. Our foreign policies were so formulated that it was possible to sell in those countries enough of the surplus produced in America to make it profitable to raise crops at home. Since the change of foreign policies and the establishment of that euphoric but unprofitable policy of isolation we have lost the markets where we used to sell the good we raised."

"In the first twelve months after the change of government policy, we lost $718,000,000 in cotton business and you wondered why the price of cotton dropped. Under the last administration we tried to arrange the German reparations indemnity so that a sum would not be demanded of Germany greater than that nation could pay. That was in order that she might continue as a national, economic and industrial unit."

"We've got Reed licked to a fare-

"Mr. Harding was a member of the Senate then and was one of the band who advocated isolation; he assisted in preventing our carrying out this policy, the consequence of which is that Germany cannot buy from us as she would have done. It costs a man in Germany nine dollars a pound in German money to buy cotton in America. Of course the Germans are not buying cotton from us; of course we have on hand more than we can use and of course the price, though somewhat now recovered, fell to levels which were far below the cost of production.

"And now, after all that, these Republicans are trying to pass a tariff bill with rates higher than were ever known, and part of that bill relates to cotton goods. The cotton schedule, as prepared by the Harding administration, is the most pernicious piece of legislation ever attempted. It is for the benefit of the cotton manufacturers who live in New England and not for the benefit of the cotton growers in the Mississippi Valley".

Long's campaign in Southeast Missouri will come to an end tonight, after which he will return to St. Louis arrived late Wednesday afternoon for an address in St. Louis in the evening. Thursday will be spent in St. Charles and Warren counties. Friday is an open date so far, and the campaign, which has taken Long from the Iowa line to the Arkansas line and from the borders of Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee to the boundaries of Oklahoma and Kansas will close in Macon Saturday night.

Sikeston, Mo., July 26.—Assertions that Breckinridge Long, candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, will carry Scott and New Madrid counties three to one, were made by Democratic leaders today following Long's invasion yesterday of reputed hostile territory in the two counties. Long's visits occasioned old fashioned Missouri hand shaking festivals, spiced with the kissing of babies and the spinning of yarns. The St. Louisian concluded his tour of Southeast Missouri here last night after addressing an enthusiastic audience of 2100 in Malone Park. He will arrive in St. Louis late today.

Long reached Sikeston early yesterday morning and was routed from his hotel at an early hour by a delegation of enthusiastic supporters which included Mayor Clarence E. Felker, C. C. White, former Mayor, Judge W. L. Stacy, wealthy farmer; C. F. Bruton, real estate and cattleman; C. L. Blanton, editor of The Sikeston Standard; C. E. Dover, cashier of the Citizens Bank and R. Q. Jennings, a leader of railroad men in this district.

"Darned if it ain't Breck Long", he shouted. "Recognize you from your pictures. I'm the town marshal and

"you-well", Bruton said, in greeting Long.

"Sikeston will give you a whooping big majority", said Bruton.

The party left the hotel and visited nearly every business institution in Sikeston. Long got a big reception everywhere.

"We're wasting time in Scott county", Judge Stacy kept insisting. "Everybody's for you. We want to get over into New Madrid County—that's where the Reed folks are entrenched. There is a wet and dry row in Morehouse, and the wets are all for Reed. And incidentally don't overlook the fact that more Democrats voted the Republican ticket in 1920 in that district than in any other section of the state and Democrats who were against Wilson, the war and the Wilson policies are certainly going to vote for Reed".

Consequently, it was with misgivings that Long departed for Morehouse. But what a reception! And what a surprise! Long-for-Senator and Long-on-LONG posters were seen in almost every window. A big crowd gathered. J. H. Boone, wealthy resident of Morehouse was the first to greet Long.

"Breck," he fairly shouted, "there are only three or four Reed men left in Morehouse. All the rest have been converted".

"Morehouse is going to make the vote for you unanimous", said J. T. Yager, editor of The Messenger.

"I'm certainly long for you" laughed Miss Hattie Harp, an active Democratic worker.

"Make Reed hard to catch", shouted J. W. Sarff, who passed in an automobile.

Long walked into the North Pole confectionary shop where he greeted the proprietor and his employees; from there he went to Hinson's cafe and then in turn, to Chapman's Furniture Store, Bank of Morehouse, People's Market, Bank's Quality Store and half a dozen others.

A. J. Harrison, wealthy resident of Morehouse, finally collared Long.

"You've got to make a speech", he said, "we can get a crowd of 200 here in ten minutes".

Long agreed. A minute later small boys were running about the town, crying the news. Ten minutes later a crowd of 197 men and women had gathered and Long, climbing into a handy flier, made a thirty minute address which was interrupted a dozen times by rousing cheers.

Following his address, Long and his party moved on to the town of Canalou, also in New Madrid County. As the automobile parked in front of the village store, a tall citizen rushed up.

"Darned if it ain't Breck Long", he shouted. "Recognize you from your pictures. I'm the town marshal and I sure am for you. Want you to come down to the depot and meet your other Canalou supporter".

They told Long that W. M. Hartman, a former Republican, had organized a Reed-for-Senator Club and got all the Democrats but two in it. Long got busy. In an hour he had twenty men pledged to lend every effort in his behalf.

In Matthews, six miles from Canalou, could find only five Reed supporters and reports from the front had it that there were only two when Long bid goodbye to Matthews.

Then back toward Sikeston. Enroute Long paused to chat with a harvest crew and with farmers working in the fields of cotton and sunflowers. Half a hundred persons were waiting for Long when he returned here. There were a dozen conferences, a hurried dinner and then a brass band was heard in front of the Hotel Marshall. It was playing the old battle cry:

"Every time I come to town

The boys start kickin' my dawg around".

Crowds gathered. Men, women and children came to shake hands. There were babies to be kissed and boys and girls to be patted on the head. Then the reception committee arrived and with the band leading the way, Long was escorted to Malone park.

There were many women in the audience of 2100 and they lead in the applause. Long was introduced by H. C. Blanton, a member of the Scott County Democratic committee, who declared the Democratic party "has come to a parting of the ways" and asserted the defeat of Reed was the only hope of unity. Long spoke for an hour and thirty minutes, despite conditions of his voice, due to the fact that he has made 133 long speeches in a comparatively short time.

Long dwelt at length on the German reparations and the foreign trade policies of the Harding administration. He again rebutted charges made by Reed against Hoover, relative to the fixing of grain prices during the war.

"The opposition to the policies of the Wilson administration, part of which was the German reparations program, has had direct effects upon the growers of grain and the planters of cotton", he said. "The reparation program for fixing a sum which Germany could pay and which would leave Germany in a position as regards her financial and credit systems to do business with other countries, was defeated by Republican opposition and by the obstructionist tactics in the Senate".

"This resulted in a demand on Germany for indemnities in a sum greater than she could pay and the effect is today that in Germany it costs $60 a bushel to buy American wheat with German money. Naturally they don't buy and consequently we don't sell. The ten billion dollar loss in trade which we have sustained and are suffering from is largely due to these facts".

Long devoted ten minutes to a preoration on Woodrow Wilson and every sentence was applauded. He reiterated that he is not "an occasional Democrat", which also elicited rousing cheers. At one point in his speech, while referring to Harding's "isolation" policy, a bench near the speaker's platform collapsed.

"That bench," said Long solemnly, "fell down just at the point of isolation, even as did the Harding administration".

The cheering was heard half a mile away.

What a difference between the speaking of Reed and Long in Sikeston! Reed's full of abuse of those opposing him while Long's speech was thoroughly Democratic and pleasing to all brands of Democracy. The Long audience was composed of the best people in the community with visitors of the same sort from Caruthersville, Cape Girardeau and all intermediate points. The women were present in large numbers and long after the crowd dispersed visited with the candidate and pledged their support.

The first evening the Reed Battery entered the field was full of disappointment as the school house at Rootwad was dark and locked and Dr. Malcolm had his trip for nothing. The Standard learned that insufficient notice had been given the school board and the man with the key failed to appear.

At Morley where the opera house had been engaged for Attorney Patterson and Dr. Presnell, but three people came to the speaking and the meeting was called off. Notwithstanding the Standard is a Democratic paper this brand of Democrats failed to advise us of speaking dates for publication, but gave their printing to the Republican office, hence we are unable to state where their meetings are to be held for the balance of the week. From all over the state the charge is made that the Republicans are working with the Reed forces and it seems to be true.

Wednesday evening Col. Ruby Garrett of Kansas City addressed an audience of several hundred in the interest of Senator Reed. He was introduced by Dr. P. M. Malcolm. On the platform were Judge Graham, Dr. Malcolm, Dud Tickle, Joe Myers and one or two other Reed admirers. Not being present we are unable to report any subjects handled.

BRECKINRIDGE LONG
FAR IN THE LEAD

Jefferson City, July 25.—That Breckinridge Long will win the Democratic nomination for United States Senator by an overwhelming majority on August 1 is the consensus of opinion of authentic reports received here from Democratic leaders and newspapers in every county in the state.

There are some rural sections in the State which will pile up leads from 5 to 1 to 10 to 1 in favor of the former Assistant Secretary of State. Some of the Democratic leaders place Long's majority at between 75,000 to 100,000.

During the last ten days of the campaign Long has been greeted by many thousands of voters, his crowds far outnumbering those of his opponent. It is noticeable that Long has steadily gained ground in every county and also in Kansas City and St. Louis.

When Long appeared in Kansas City for a two-day tour he was greeted by a noon-day crowd of more than 1500 Democratic men and women. He was introduced by Col. George English, a veteran of the World War. The tremendous crowd which turned out to hear Long created surprise and showed that he would get a large vote irrespective of the organization.

Conservative Democrats credit rural Jackson County to Long's column, the candidate having finished the tour of the county with a speech at Independence.

The Democratic nominee also was greeted by enthusiastic crowds on his tour of Jasper and Greene counties. When he rose to speak before a large crowd at Springfield he was cheered for five minutes.

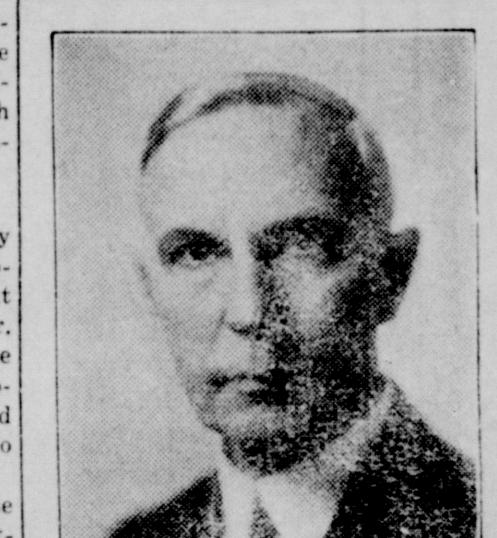

The supporters of the former Assistant Secretary of State under Woodrow Wilson have been quite active for him in St. Louis and it is certain now that the city will swing into the Long column.

The real Democrats of the State, intend to work hard every day until the day of the primary in order that Long's apparent majority will be increased.

The ladies of the Christian Church will have a bake sale in the basement of their church Saturday afternoon From 2:00 to 6:00 o'clock. Ice cream and cake served.

The automobile edition of the Scott County Democrat has reached The Standard. It contains 28 pages of matter pertaining to Scott County and is a credit to Editor Pinney and the city in which it is published.

The Standard has received a letter from Mrs. Archie D. Barnett, stating that she is comfortably located in the Agnes Memorial Sanitorium, at Denver, Colorado, and the doctors have given her every encouragement in regard to her health. She also informs us that Mrs. John Walter Lay is in the same sanatorium. Mrs. Lay has been very ill, but is improving.

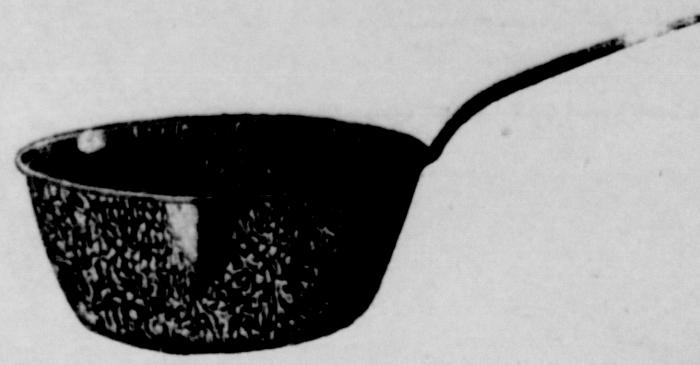

SENATOR W. M. BOWKER
Of Nevada, Vernon Co., Candidate for the Democratic nomination for Supreme Judge for one of the two positions to be filled in Division No. Two.

Senator Bowker is known all over the State as being one of the ablest lawyers in the State, a good Democrat and well fitted in every way for this important position.

He made a fine record in the State Senate, and, in the last legislature, led the fight against the vicious legislation and high tax program of the present Republican Administration.

His record entitles him to the favorable consideration of the Democratic voters at the Primary August 1st.

MISS ELLSWORTH BECOMES BRIDE OF TEXAS MAN

The many friends of Miss Marie Ellsworth will be greatly surprised to hear of her marriage to Mr. Sam W. McCutchen, on Saturday, the 15th of July, at Wichita Falls, Texas.

Miss Marie is the daughter of Mrs. Nell Ellsworth and was employed in the Farmers Dry Goods & Clo. Co. of this city for some time and had many friends in this city.

Mr. McCutchen was formerly employed here about nine years ago in the Western Union Telegraph office.

Mr. and Mrs. McCutchen will reside in Dundee, Texas, where he is employed.

The many friends of Miss Marie wish them a long and happy married life.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Dempster of Paton, Ill., are visiting the former's brother, Geo. Dempster and family.

Mrs. Joe Mocabee, Mrs. E. M. Buswell and Miss Mayme Mocabee of Morehouse spent Tuesday afternoon in this city.

LOST—On last Sunday in the neighborhood of the Methodist church, a pair of gold rim glasses. Reward if returned to Homer Decker, North Kingshighway.

Mrs. Frank Smith and daughter, Anetta have returned from Excelsior Springs, where they had been for the benefit of their health. Both report special benefit received from their visit.

Pro-German or Pro-American?

John C. Meyers, leader of the local pro-German elements who went to the limit in opposing war measures, says 9000 German-Americans are pledged to support Senator Reed. The presumption from his statement is that these 9000 German Americans are Republicans who have promised to jump their party primary and vote in the Democratic primary for the purpose of renominating Senator Reed.

We deplore the injection of racial and foreign national issues in American politics as Mr. Meyers has done. It does not help either Germany, which is sadly in need of American sympathy and help, nor is it good for America, but Mr. Meyers has defined one issue clearly. His statement is a challenge to Democrats in particular and Americans in general. Shall the Democratic nomination be decided by Republicans and pro-Germans or by Democrats and pro-Americans? Which shall control the Senate—Germany or America?

It is high time to get rid of the professional Germans who are enemies to both Germany and America.—Post-Dispatch.

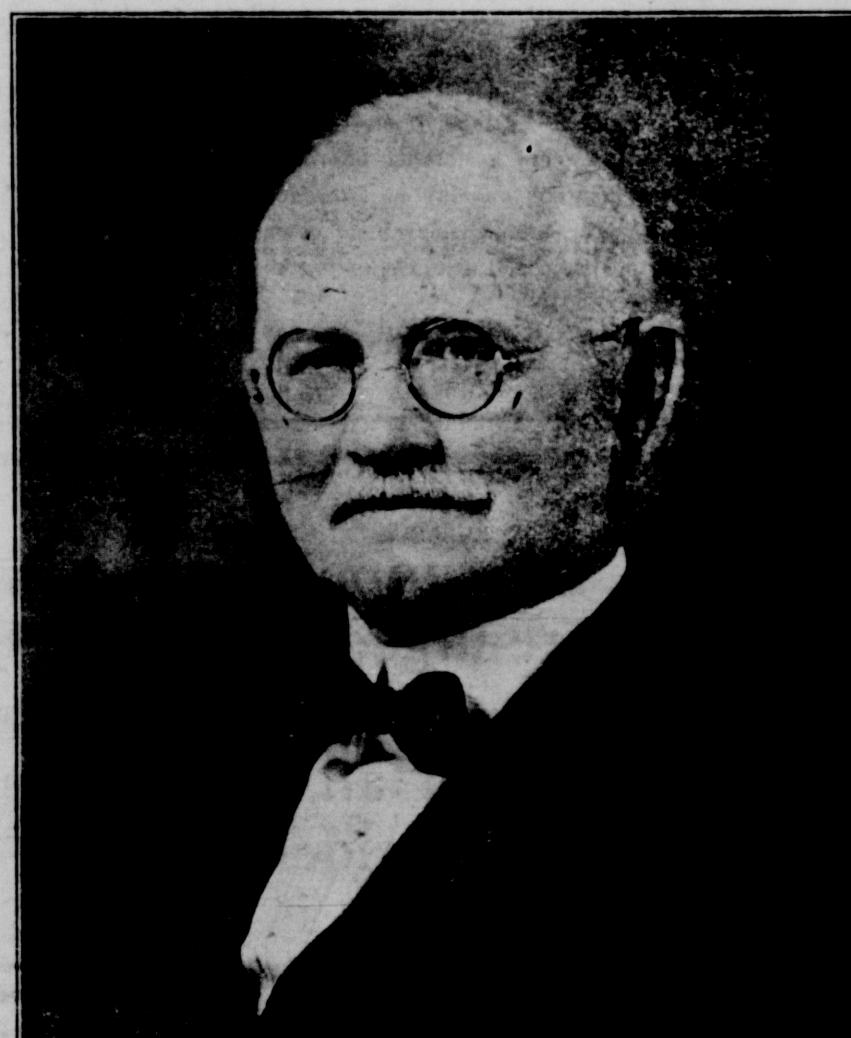

Mrs. J. W. Winchester and daughter, Anita, have returned from Hot Springs, Ark., where Mrs. Winchester went for the benefit of her health.

Mrs. Gertrude Lee will leave for St. Louis Saturday to attend the hairdressers' convention to be held in that city Monday and Tuesday of next week. She will return Wednesday.

Sincerely
CAPT. H. E. DUDLEY.

Mrs. Will Smith left Tuesday for a few days visit to Bernie, Mo.

Miss Mildred Westcoat of Oran is visiting M. Q. Tanner and family.

REED'S RECORD IN SENATE
ON ESCH-CUMMINS LAW

A statement on the attitude of Senator Reed toward the Esch-Cummins railroad law has been received by W. A. Wheeling, 3818 Blaine avenue, legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, from W. N. Doak, national legislative representative of the organization, at Washington.

According to the statement, Reed did not vote on the Esch-Cummins bill, but was paired, and gave no indication of his attitude toward the measure. It is further said he did not vote on the conference report, March 13, 1918, although labor favored the bill. He was paired and did not vote December 18, 1919, on the amendment to strike out drastic provisions to which labor men objected. He also was paired and did not vote December 19, 1919, on an amendment to strike out the anti-strike penalty clause.—St. Louis Star.

The Southeast Missouri Melon Growers' Association have established their offices in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. The office force is considerably smaller than it was last season, due to the fact that the Association has eliminated the sales department and has an agreement with the American Fruit Growers, Inc. of St. Louis as marketing agents. In the office at present are: E. B. Gustafson, field representative of the American Fruit Growers, who was formerly Chief Fruit Inspector of the State of Idaho, also was with the U. S. Bureau of Markets and has had vast experience both in the field and on the market with large Produce Marketing agencies, W. M. Gaty, Secretary-Manager, who was with the Southeast Missouri Melon Growers' Association last season, and George M. Faris, as bookkeeper and stenographer.

Fisk and Ash Hill locals have been shipping melons since the 20th of this month and the peak of the movement is expected within the next ten days. At a meeting of the Board of Directors, July 24th, the Board was more than satisfied with the prices which were received for the Fisk and Ash Hill ears.

Mr. Gaty, Secretary-Manager, reports that there will be a shortage of melons from Southeast Missouri loading points due to wilt and other diseases and that large size melons of quality are scarce.

The officers of the organization would be glad for anyone interested in watermelons, to come around and get acquainted.

Chaffee was represented in the free for all quarrel held at Cape Girardeau Saturday, because Cape Girardeau is apparently striving to raise a rumpus and prevent the primary route No. 4, from traversing this section of the state. Cape roads have always been better than others around and it has been conceded by other communities without struggle, and we are indeed disappointed that an issue should be made by Cape out of such a trivial affair, and, which too much tumult may deprive this section of the state from the primary route No. 4 altogether.
